THE SILVER KING.
Probably no play could be named which recalls so many pleasant recollections to playgoers as this, the most human, interesting, and permanently popular of all modern dramas. Originally produced at the Princess's Theatre, London, November 18, 1882, under the management of Mr. Wilson Barrett, who created the character of Wilfred Denver, this great play achieved a success which has become historical. It received its initial Australian production on October 27, 1883, and soon became the talk of all Australia. Everywhere the story of unprecedented popularity was repeated, and in after years, with each revival, the play maintained its freshness, and seemed to become more endeared, if possible, to the hearts and minds of Australian playgoers.
And now once more "The Silver King" will be presented to the Sydney public, under the management of Mr. J. C. Williamson, and with Mr. Wilson Barrett in his original character of Wilfred Denver, surrounded by a cast of his own selecting.
THE BOX PLAN
for the initial performance will be on view at Nicholson's this (Monday) morning at 10 o'clock.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE

THE TURF.

Trotting, pony, and galloway races will be held at Forest Lodge to-day, the first event starting at 2.15 p.m. Among the items on the programme is a steeplechase. The usual facilities will be afforded by tramway and omnibus services for reaching the course.

The programme for the December Meeting at Rosehill will be found in the business portion of the paper. Entries for the different events enumerated therein close with the secretary, Mr. J. Denmeade, before 4 p.m. on Monday, 2nd proximo.

The hurdle racer Marton is evidently in very good form just now, judging by the way he disposed of the field in the hurdle race at Randwick on Saturday. He outjumped, outran, and outstayed his field.

Weights are due this forenoon for the events to be run at the Moorefield November Meeting.

Dunk, the winner of the Stockbridge Handicap at Randwick on Saturday, put in a good run inside the distance, and has improved a deal within the last few weeks. The Garfield gelding Plaintiff was well supported for the race, his backers starting at 12 to 1 and making him a firm favourite. Dunk, on the other hand, was at an outside price in the betting. The winner was bred by Mr. H. C. White, being by the defunct Melos from Venapa, by Martini-Henry from Formosa, by Yattendon.

An official inspection of the new Belmore racecourse will take place to-day, a train leaving Redfern station at 2.20 p.m.

Weights for the important Christmas and New Year handicaps of the A.J.C. and Tattersall's Club will be announced by Wednesday next.

Leapfrog never looked better than he did on Saturday when going out on to the course at Randwick to take part in the Welter Handicap. His followers felt a good deal of confidence in him, for they backed him with such spirit that at one time a number of bookmakers refused to lay anything further against him. The market gave a correct indication as to how the race would be run, for Leapfrog soon after starting was taken to the front and stayed there, winning easily. Ranjitsinhji, who was ridden by Barden with judgment, and was giving away a good deal of weight to a good galloper like Leapfrog, ran very well under the circumstances and could not have been expected to do better.

Mr. W. Brown, the Newcastle sportsman, was in a very happy position on Saturday in regard to the Tyro Stakes at Randwick. He was represented by Ceres and Chantress, and the former on her running at Rosehill was regarded as having a particularly good chance of winning the race, but when she was scratched and the stable put its money down blindly on Chantress, it became recognised that Chantress must be even better than Ceres. Great Scot on his Melbourne form held the pride of place in the betting, but he has developed a nasty temper at the post, and Mr. Watson had a deal of difficulty in getting him away, but not without carrying some of the starting machine with him. At the distance it looked as if the favourite would win, but Chantress put in a very fast run and easily cut him down. Chantress was bred by Mr. J. Brown, and is by Bill of Portland from imported Chand Bee Bee, and therefore a half-sister to the Loched mare Sir Evan. Chantress is a very smart filly, and must be a match for Ceres, but probably Great Scot would have won despite his penalty had he been in his best form.

The principal race at Randwick on Saturday was won by the Perseus gelding Lulworth, trained by W. Kelso. It was a good race up the straight between Lulworth and Glenore, and when they passed the post no one with certainty except the judge could say which of them had won. At the Tirrana Picnic race meeting Lulworth won the Bachelors' Prize, and at the Bong Bong Picnic meeting also secured the Bachelors' Bag. He was bred by Mr. T. Cook at Turanville, being by the Splendor horse Perseus from the Cheveden mare Lady Charmion.

Entries close before 4 p.m. to-day with the secretary, Mr. George Rowe, for the events to be run at the Warwick Farm December meeting. The card will be found in the business portion of the paper.

Entries close with the secretary, Mr. S. Peters, before 5 p.m. on Wednesday next for the pony and galloway races to be decided at Brighton on Thursday next. The programme will be found in the advertising columns.

The Belmore proprietary announces in the business sheets its programme for the first meeting to be held on Friday, 29th instant. Entries for the different events close before 4 p.m. to-morrow with the secretary, Mr. Thomas Donnellan.

General entries for the A.J.C. Summer Meeting fall due with the secretary, Mr. T. S. Clibborn, before 4 p.m. on Monday, December 22. The programme appears in the advertising columns.

Owners and trainers are reminded that entries for Newcastle Tattersall's Cup close to-day. Nominations will be received at the A.J.C. office up to 4 p.m., or up to 9 p.m. by Mr. Solomon, secretary of the Newcastle Tattersall's Club.

Mr. J. Samuels has not been very fortunate in racing horses, and it was as big a surprise to him as to the general public to see his colours carried to the front by Courada in the Trial Handicap at Randwick on Saturday. Mr. Samuels despaired of him winning, and he was neglected in the betting. Courada is a big well-formed gelding, bred well, and should race. When a two-year-old Courada won a Sapling Stakes at Moree for the Messrs. W. and F. A. Moses, but has done nothing since.

At the annual meeting of the New England J.C. the balance-sheet was adopted. Races will be held on Boxing Day, and the programme for the annual race meeting on February 5 and 6, which was adopted, includes the New England Cup of £125 and the City Handicap of £80.

The Sydney jockey, J. M'Farlane, who met with a serious accident at Canterbury Park about two years ago, rode his first winner since the accident at Mudgee last week. M'Farlane's mount was Lady Loch, a neat chestnut daughter of Lord Loch, and M'Farlane handled his mount with all his old-time proficiency.

At Randwick on the course proper on Saturday morning Johansen and Watchfire did a sound working gallop over a mile, and Naphro ran the same distance in 1 minute 54 seconds. The Watchdog beat Abe and Spring Rose over six furlongs in 1 minute 21½ seconds, and Steelbusk was in front of Lochine at the business end of a mile run in 1 minute 54 seconds. Queen of Sheba beat Choker over six furlongs in 1 minute 21 seconds, and The Future knocked off a mile in 1 minute 51½ seconds. Golden Ring and Caledonia ran a mile together at a working pace, and Puruse beat a friend over a mile in 1 minute 54 seconds; but Horace and Argo ran a similar journey in 1 minute 50 seconds. Blue Metal slipped over a mile on the tan in 1 minute 49½ seconds, and over seven furlongs of the same rink there was nothing to choose between Bellis and The Lad, who occupied 1 minute 36½ seconds over the trip. Lucknow beat Salus over a mile and a quarter in 2 minutes 27 seconds, and Portague got over its furlongs in 1 minute 21 seconds.

AUSTRALIAN JOCKEY CLUB.

The November race meeting of the Australian Jockey Club at Randwick was, on Saturday, favoured with fine weather, but mainly owing to the attractions of the match with the English cricket team the attendance was below the average. Interesting sport was, however, provided, and the only accident occurred in the Hurdle Race, through Gygees falling and inflicting a fractured collar bone on his rider, J. Macmahon. The stewards were not satisfied with the running of Pegasus in the Welter Handicap, and the owner (H. Dargin) and the rider (C. Parker) were called upon for explanations. It was stated that the gelding was only eight weeks out of the paddock, and was not yet in proper condition for racing. The explanation was considered satisfactory. The general arrangements, under the supervision of the secretary (Mr. T. S. Clibborn), were, as usual, carried out in a manner that left no room for fault-finding. Appended are the results of the racing:—

HURDLE RACE

Of 100 sovs. and sweepstake of 2 sovs.; second 20 sovs., and about 2 miles.

Mr. J. Graham's blk g Marton, by Lochiel—Little Nell, aged, 11st 12lb (J. Phillis) 1
Mr. aged, 11st 12lb (T. O'Connor's blk g Oberon, aged, 11st 12lb (J. Regan) 2
Mr. H. V. Foy's gr g King Pin, 4 years, 9st 10lb (R. Whalley) 3

Other starters: Gygees, 10st 5lb (J. M'Mahon); Redlight, 10st 5lb (J. Chevally).

Betting: 7 to 4 v. Gygees, 4 to 1 each v. Marton, Redlight, and King Pin, 6 to 1 v. Oberon.

Gygees went off in front and showed the way over the first obstacle, followed by Redlight, Marton, Oberon, and King Pin, and so they turned into the straight and passed the stand, where Gygees had increased his advantage to four lengths, the other positions being unchanged. As they swung out of the straight Gygees hit the obstacle, but holding his place showed the way past the mile post, with Marton and Redlight at his heels, Oberon next, and King Pin last. Anderson and P. H. Sullivan, M.L.A. Among those present were the Mayor of Waterloo (Alderman L. P. Williams), the Mayor of Drummoyne (Alderman Henley), the Mayor of Botany (Alderman W. Stephen), Aldermen T. Clarke, Fewing, Danks, Vernon, Parry, F. J. Leland, and Metcalf, Messrs. Ramsay (Woonona Bowling Club), E. Turner, J. Dibble, R. Gray, C. Roberts, G. Gordon, Aibell, J. Gray, G. Hall, G. Grills, J. Leitch, R. W. Grierson, H. Jennings, J. T. Brogden, W. Rose, J. Lorke, P. Bryne, J. Bradbury, R. Cranston, H. Kennedy, A. Isaacs, J. O'Connell, G. Stedman, A. Hirshman, R. Green, A. Goldman, J. Segal, J. Balfour, D. Follett, R. Charlie.

The chairman announced apologies from Mr. G. B. Edwards, M.P., Alderman T. H. Dearin, Alderman G. W. Howe, and others. Mr. Ramsay apologised for the absence of Messrs. Johnson and Green, of the Woonona (Bulli) Bowling Club.

At the conclusion of the dinner a toast list was gone through. The health of the King was drunk with musical honours. The chairman then proposed the toast of the evening, "Our Guests." He said he was sure he voiced the feeling of the bowling fraternity when he said that the tour of the Australian team of bowlers had been a most successful one, and that the New South Wales contingent had done much to bring about that success. The Redfern Club was proud that it had been enabled to supply from its ranks several of the team, all of whom had proved themselves worthy of the club they represented. (Cheers.) On behalf of the members of the Redfern Club he extended a cordial welcome home to Messrs. Hanigan, Parkes, and Sutton. The toast was supported by Messrs. Clarke, Danks, Vernon, Williams, Ramsay, and Bradbury, and was drunk with much enthusiasm and with musical honours.

Messrs. Hanigan, Parkes, and Sutton, who were enthusiastically received, each responded. They gave an outline of their tour. They spoke of the hospitality extended to them on all sides, both in Europe and America, but after all, said Mr. Hanigan, there was no place like New South Wales. His remarks in this respect were endorsed by Messrs. Parkes and Sutton. During the evening a musical programme was gone through. Songs were contributed by Messrs. Danks, Parkes, Chaffie, Kennedy, Sutton, Parry, Howe, Isaacs, Rose, and Stephen. Messrs. Grills and Croma presided at the piano.

CITY v. REDFERN.

A four-rinked match between the representatives of the City and Redfern Clubs was arranged to be played on the Redfern green on Saturday afternoon. Only three rinks from the City put in an appearance, but a rink from the St. George Club also attended, and Redfern were thus enabled to place four rinks in the field. A close contest took place between the representatives of the City and the local players, the home team winning by 2 points. Mrs. Grier

CHALLENGE
TO ANY GAS COMPANY IN THE STATE OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

NOTE.—Lest there may still be one individual in a thousand who has a faint doubt of the OVERWHELMING SUPERIORITY OF RALEIGH'S "NEW PARAGON" over any other gas stove on earth, M. Raleigh, though only a poor man, amply keeping alive to save funeral expenses, is PREPARED TO DEPOSIT £20 (which he intends borrowing from a friend, and repay on the Kathleen Mavourneen principle—"It may be for years, and it may be for ever") with any Gas Company in the State as a guarantee that he means what he says, namely :—He will take one of "New Paragons" into any Gas Company's showroom, take a ring from one of the English Gas Stoves, where it will merrily boil a "Billy," place it in the "Paragon," and with that ring roast a joint of meat and boil vegetables, &c., in four vessels at the same time. If he fails he will forfeit the £20, borrowed on the Kathleen Mavourneen principle, which can be donated to the Sydney Hospital ; but if he succeeds, the Gas Company to donate a similar amount to the same institution (and you may bet your bottom bawbee that he will). Now, this is a straight challenge to any Gas Company to give the public an opportunity of seeing practically the difference between and the ancient article. I have taken several prizes for Gas Stoves, but never one for bashfulness ; yet I must confess that unless I was loaded (up or down) to the Plimsoll mark with Ballyhooley Limmayde or Roma Rum, and expected every minute to be my next, I could not have the granite face to offer one English Gas Stove for sale with such a straight challenge as the above staring me in the face. The Mail Steamers.—The next English mail due is of London date October 25. It comes by the P. and O. Company's R.M.S. Australia, which reached Sydney to-morrow in time for the 1.30 p.m. delivery. The Orient-Pacific Company despatched the R.M.S. Omrah to London on Saturday, there being a large concourse of passengers' friends and others to witness the departure of the steamer. The Omrah has a large cargo, her shipments of fresh butter amounting to 275 tons. Taking the present retail price of butter the value of the Omrah's shipment would be equal to about £37,500. The same company's mail steamer Orizaba, which arrived from London on Friday last, has occupied the berth at the Orient-Pacific wharf. In the Oceanic line the American mail steamer Sonoma on Saturday came back to her berth at the company's wharf and will leave to-morrow for San Francisco. Yesterday the French steamer Pacifique arrived from New Caledonia, bringing 52 passengers booked through by the main line steamer Oceanien, sailing hence to-day for Marseilles. The list includes Dr. and Mrs. Vallet, Lieutenant and Mrs. J. A. Billes, Mr. Hart, and Mr. and Mrs. Durand. The Imperial German mail steamer Neckar, from Bremen, is expected to reach the company's wharf early to-morrow. In connection with the berthing of the steamers of the North German Lloyd it is probable that at an early date the vessels of this line will again occupy a wharf on the western side of Circular Quay. The E. and A. line and the German-Australian line wharfs will in all probability become the new site for the Bremen mail service, the E. and A. being accommodated further along the Quay, and the German-Australian service at Woolloomooloo Bay wharf.

Death of Mr. Charles Potter.—The death is announced of Mr. Charles Potter, ex-Government Printer, at his residence, Restholm, Lindfield. Mr. Potter, who at the time of his death was 74 years of age, entered the department of which he was afterwards the chief in his early youth. He rose steadily, filling in succession many responsible positions in the office. Some ten years ago he visited England on departmental business, and while there contracted a severe illness. Returning to Sydney some months later, he continued in office till 1896, when he resigned. Mr. W. A. Gullick, the present Government Printer, was appointed as his successor. The deceased gentleman was of a cheerful disposition, and during a term of office extending over nearly half a century he enjoyed the confidence of his superior officers, and was always popular among his subordinates.

In connection with the cricket match England v. New South Wales at the Sydney Cricket Ground to-day the Railway Commissioners notify that a special service of trams will be run to the ground from Bent-street and the railway subway, commencing at 10.50 a.m.

A meeting will be held at the Hotel Arcadia this evening to take steps to arrange a social reunion amongst the members of the First Contingent.

The dispensary board of the North Sydney United Friendly Societies met at the new rooms, Lane Cove-road, on Saturday night for the purpose of bidding bon voyage to two of their officers—Dr. Devlin (medical officer) and Mr. C. C. Newland (member of the board)—who leave Sydney shortly on a trip to Europe. Mr. T. Barrett presided. The healths of the guests of the evening was honoured, and several other toasts were submitted.

At the hall of the Sydney Theosophical Society, Margaret-street, last evening, a lecture was given by Mr. H. A. Wilson on "The Possibilities of the Future." The lecturer pointed out the trend of national evolution and the results which change of front of view might be expected to bring about. A discussion followed.

SHOCKING RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

DOUBLE FATALITY AT HURSTVILLE.

TWO LITTLE BOYS KILLED.

A shocking railway accident, which resulted in the death of two little boys, occurred shortly before 6 o'clock last evening on the line near the Hurstville station. One of the children, John Henry Sparkes, aged 5, was killed instantly, and the other, Michael James Fahey, aged 4, received such injuries that he lived but a few minutes.

The boy Fahey resided with his father, Mr. Thomas Fahey, on the Bellevue Estate, Hyder-street, Hurstville, and little Sparkes lived in the same neighbourhood. It seems that the children had been playing together during the afternoon, and at about 5.45 they were observed near a railway crossing in Woid's-avenue. Nothing more was seen of them until just before the accident. It is believed that the little boys reached the crossing as a train proceeding from Sydney towards Hurstville was passing. The train by which they were killed was then nearing the spot from the opposite direction, and it is thought that they waited till the up-train had passed, and that they then attempted to cross the line. They were seen by persons from the down-tram a moment before the engine struck them.

As soon as possible after the accident the engine, which was driven by Bernard Dwyer, with Robert Lamont as fireman, was brought to a standstill. The whole train had passed over both children. The guard (Thomas Judd) and several passengers proceeded to where they were lying. Little Fahey was then alive, and though unconscious, he bore no visible marks of injury. His companion, however, was dead, the body having been terribly mutilated and both arms severed.

The living child and the body of little Sparkes were placed on the train, which then continued its run to Sydney. At the Arncliffe station a doctor was in attendance, and after examining the child Fahey he pronounced life to be extinct, death probably resulting from a broken neck. On arrival at Redfern the bodies were conveyed by the Civil Ambulance Brigade, assisted by Constable Gillespie, to the North Morgue, where an inquest will take place at 9.30 this morning.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION IN STATE SCHOOLS.

PROFESSOR HARPER AND ARCHBISHOP CARR.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

In the course of an address delivered at Kilmore to-day Archbishop Carr alluded to the resolution which at the instance of Professor Harper was passed at the meeting of the Presbyterian General Assembly on Thursday last, recommending the establishment of an organisation to counteract the political influence of the Roman Catholic vote. Dr. Carr said that many of Professor Harper's friends would regret that his name should be associated with as narrow and illogical and unconstitutional a resolution as had ever been submitted to any decent deliberative assembly. Roman Catholics protested against secular education as being incomplete and injurious to the best interests of their children, and they had been driven up their protest by establishing and maintaining schools in which complete education was imparted to pupils. Roman Catholics had not any objection to religious instruction in State schools provided that it was not mixed. If it could be given to non-Roman Catholic pupils before school hours, after school hours, or during the midday interval Catholics would be highly pleased, but it could not be given during school hours if it were to be really religious without detriment to either Roman or non-Roman Catholic children. Even if Roman Catholics stood alone in this conviction were they to be ostracised from political life by a Protestant combination against them as Professor Harper proposed. If Professor Harper admitted that Roman Catholics in the matter of State education had a real grievance why should he inveigh against them for seeking redress by the only constitutional means available? By a strange inconsistence for a man of letters the learned Professor proposed in the words of his resolution the very line of action which he so vehemently condemned in Roman Catholics, viz., the manipulation of the sectarian vote for political purposes. So far as Roman Catholics were concerned that manipulation had no existence outside the imagination of Professor Harper and his confreres.

COMMONWEALTH NOTES.

STATE MONOPOLY OF TOBACCO AND LIQUOR.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The question of making the manufacture and sale of tobacco a Government monopoly is engaging the attention of members of both Houses. Mr. O'Malley's amendment, which was defeated on Wednesday night, meant nothing, and in the circumstances there was some surprise that 21 members could be found to vote for it merely as an assertion of principle. People who are interested in the question of the State monopoly have been ascertaining the views of members, and affirm as a result of the inquiries that a majority would be found in the House of Representatives to vote for the principle. The suggestion was recently put forward that the Commonwealth Government should control the liquor trade in the federal territory. This idea has been sympathetically received, and members who would oppose its application in the States on account of dislocation and disturbances which would be caused to the existing interests are quite willing to support the proposal to make the experiment under the new conditions which will exist in the federal capital site. It is expected that there will be a combination for the purpose of urging the Federal Government to make both the sale of liquor and manufacture and sale of tobacco Commonwealth Government monopolies, and a scheme will be prepared for submission to the Premier before the end of the session. Mr. Barton will also be asked to allow time for the discussion of an abstract motion on the subject in both Houses.

INCREMENTS TO POSTAL OFFICERS.

The Postmaster-General is frequently in receipt of complaints regarding the payment of increments to officers in the Postal Department of New South Wales. The main trouble appears to have been caused by the action of the Public Service Board, which, according to the Premier, made a retrospective regulation reducing the increment of £15 in certain cases to one of £10. The regulations of the Public Service Board of New South Wales have the force of law, and the Commonwealth must observe them as such, and take over the departments burdened by any regulation of the kind. The Postmaster-General is anxious that justice should be done to the officers, and, in addition to the sum of £8700, with which it is intended to pay increments in accordance with the regulations to the professional, clerical, and general divisions during 1901-2, a further sum of £1000 has been placed on the Estimates to provide for increases to salaries of deserving officers who do not come within the provisions of the increment regulations in accordance with the practice at the time of the transfer. The whole question of increments will be dealt with under the Public Service Bill now before the Senate.

The Treasurer has circulated a return showing the total amount provided in the Estimates for the current year for increments to officers in accordance with the law or practice prevailing in the respective States at the date of the transfer of the departments to the Commonwealth. The return shows the following totals in each department:—Trade and Customs, £3093; Defence, £244; Post and Telegraphs, £34,944. Total, £38,281. Of this amount New South Wales officers will get:—Department of Trade and Customs, £421; Post and Telegraphs, £9935. Total, £10,356.

HEAVY BILL FOR TRAVELLING EXPENSES.

Members of an inquiring turn of mind have been compiling a list of various items of travelling allowances in the Estimates. The total, made up of the following details, is a pretty formidable one:—Senate, £120; House of Representatives, £100; Hansard, £190; Governor-General, including printing and telegrams, £2000; Attorney-General's Department, £200; Home Affairs Administration staff, £350; Electoral Office, £200; Public Service Commissioner, £350; Inter-State Commission, £200; Public Works Department, £750; Treasury, £100; Audit office, £300; Customs office administration, £400; Defence Department administration, £200; Defence Department headquarters staff, £1000; Postmaster-General central staff, £709. Total, £7170. Adding to this the amount of travelling expenses of members of Federal Legislature, State Customs departments, Postal departments, and carriage of members of the defence forces, the total comes to over £120,000. Of course, a large proportion of this amount comes to the Commonwealth as part of the ordinary expenditure of transferred departments. Under State control the amount paid to the railways was merely a book entry, but the Commonwealth will have to pay cash.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

The question has arisen whether the provision of the Postal Act which gives the Postmaster-General exclusive right to send messages by telegraph applies to the system of wireless telegraphy, and the impression in official quarters is that it does so apply. The question has come up for solution owing to a proposal by a private company to set up a system of wireless telegraphy between Tasmania and one of the islands off the coast of that State. This is held to amount to an invasion of the rights of the Federal Government. In order to have a definite answer from the Postmaster-General on the subject, Senator Clemons has put a question on the business paper of the Senate for Wednesday next.

TARIFF PROGRESS.

In the House of Representatives Ministers express a hope that the tariff will pass through that Chamber before the Christmas adjournment. A good many members of the Opposition join in the hope, and think that every endeavour should be made to realise it. Their reason for wishing to expedite the matter is that the delay is causing much loss and inconvenience to business men throughout the Commonwealth. Very much better progress will have to be made in future than in the past. The record to date is nine items in three weeks. At most there are only 17 or 18 sitting days before the Christmas adjournment, and there are about 130 items to get through in the time. Even with the co-operation of the Opposition the task looks hopeless, unless the Government is willing to make concessions that will please all sides of the House at the same time.

CONVICTION UNDER THE COMMONWEALTH CUSTOMS ACT.

The first conviction under the Commonwealth Customs Act of 1901 was secured in the City Court on Saturday, when a Chinese named Ah Wah pleaded guilty to having nine uncustomed umbrellas valued at £3 14s in his possession. The prescribed penalty of £100 was formally imposed, and was then reduced to £5, with 2 guineas costs.

A CHAT WITH SIR WILLIAM LYNE.

THE PROGRESS OF BUSINESS.

CONSIDERATION OF THE TARIFF.

The Home Secretary, Sir William Lyne, returned to Sydney on Saturday from Melbourne on a visit to his home, and in an interesting chat with a "Herald" representative gave some information with regard to matters connected with Parliamentary affairs in the Federal Legislature.

Asked as to the progress of business he said it was progressing as quickly as could be expected, especially considering the amount of talk that occurs in the Houses. It is probable, he said, that after the present week the Parliament will sit on five days a week, as a motion to that effect has been already tabled in the House of Representatives. It was intended on Thursday night to have a late sitting, but Sir William M'Millan, who in the absence of Mr. Reid is leader of the Opposition, pleaded hard for an adjournment, and a tacit arrangement was then come to—Sir William M'Millan, of course, declining to in any way bind the members of his side of the House—that assistance should be given to get the tariff disposed of before Christmas. The date of the Christmas adjournment could not, of course, be stated with any certainty, but Sir William Lyne considers it probable that it will be about December 15 or 18. Then the Houses may meet again about the middle of January, allowing perhaps a fortnight or three weeks' adjournment.

"Do you anticipate that the tariff will be materially altered in committee?" was a question put to Sir William. His reply was that he did not think it would be much "cut about," excepting perhaps in regard to the revenue duties. The possibility was that some of the revenue duties might go. The attack made on the tariff by the freetraders was on account of these revenue duties—to his mind a most extraordinary piece of opposition. It depended, said Sir William, to a large extent upon the action of the freetraders as to how far the revenue duties were likely to be altered. There was, of course, also the Labour party, which wished to take off two large revenue-producing items from the list of duties—tea and piece goods. These two together were estimated to bring in about £700,000, and if they were knocked off or reduced it would make a great difference in the revenue receivable.

With regard to the sugar duties, Sir William Lyne says that the Cabinet has decided to postpone their consideration until it is known what the Senate intends to do with the Kanaka Bill. The two things are to some extent dependent upon one another. The bonus proposed is designed to in some measure compensate the sugar planters for the loss of black labour, and the Government cannot say what will be done in regard to the sugar duties until it is seen what is the fate of the Kanaka Bill.

In answer to questions concerning the progress of business generally and the probable length of the session Sir William Lyne said that the Postal Bill, as has been already announced, has received the assent of the Governor-General, and will come into operation on December 1. The Public Service Bill is now in the Senate, and its consideration by that body in committee has advanced as far, he believes, as the 16th clause. The clauses already dealt with contain the most debatable parts of the bill, therefore its further progress, when it is again considered, ought to be pretty quick. Some amendments have already been made in it of an important character. The Inter-State Commission Bill is in the House of Representatives. The clauses with regard to shipping will be amended: in fact, Sir William has already drafted and circulated amendments making the bill apply to cargoes brought by ship and intended to be sent by rail. This will get rid of the greatest objections which have been urged against the bill. The Property Acquisition Bill has passed both Houses and is at present in the House of Representatives after its return from the Senate. The amendments in it are not of a vital character, and on Tuesday he will move that they be accepted; so that this bill may be said to be safe from further amendment. As to the Electoral Bill, it is drafted and ready for its final revision in Cabinet before its introduction. Whether it will be introduced in the Senate or House of Representatives or not has not yet been decided upon, but the idea is that it may be introduced in the Senate if there is no constitutional difficulty in the way. These are the most important bills of which Sir William has cognisance in his department, and he hopes that they will be passed into law. He particularly wishes to have the Electoral Bill passed before the prorogation.

As to the probable length of the session, Sir William is inclined to think it will last until March. There is no likelihood of the visit of inspection being made to the suggested sites for the federal capital before the Christmas adjournment. It may, however, be made some time in January or February.

DEATH OF THE HON. GEORGE THORNTON, M.L.C.

A SKETCH OF HIS CAREER.

AN AUTHORITY ON EARLY SYDNEY.

The death of the Hon. George Thornton, M.L.C., which occurred on Saturday after a few days' illness, removes from the scene one of the most picturesque characters which have graced the political and sporting life of New South Wales. It can hardly be said of him that he took a leading part in political matters, but he devoted attention to them, and when it was necessary to give reasons for the faith that was in him he did not hesitate to do so. In the domain of aquatic sport Mr. Thornton was a leading person. With his sports on the water were a passion, which, imbibed in early youth, remained with him through life, and long after the weight of years had incapacitated him from following them as a competitor the love of the water and all that pertained to it prompted him to give his presence and patronage to the regattas and other aquatic celebrations. In matters relating to early Australian affairs he was an acknowledged authority because he had seen most of the events happen and had taken part in some of them.

Mr. Thornton was born in Macquarie-street, Sydney, on December 23, 1819—the same year as her late Majesty Queen Victoria—and was thus 82 years of age. In those days the facilities for obtaining an education were not what they are at the present day, nevertheless deceased was a well-educated man. The late Mr. W. T. Cape, who 70 years ago was a famous schoolmaster, conducted his seminary in King-street, and thither young Thornton was sent after passing through a private class in St. Philip's primary school. Next he went to the late Dr. Lang's Australian College, which was conducted in premises in Jamieson-street. Leaving school he entered the Customs Department, and after a short experience there commenced business for himself as a Customs and shipping agent, an avocation which after a few years he abandoned to become a merchant. In his young manhood he gave his services to the citizens in a civic capacity. The archives of the city of Sydney are not easily accessible, but it is certain that in 1851 he was a councillor. There was also a Councillor Thornton in the City Corporation in 1848. It was during the fifties that the city of Sydney was formally denominated, and its affairs administered under commissioners. The city of Adelaide had been similarly treated in 1843, and remained under the administration of commissioners for nine years. Sydney, however, remained under commission only from 1854 to 1856. In 1857 the municipality was again established, and the first Mayor under the new regime was Mr. George Thornton. In 1858 Mr. Thornton stood for legislative honours, and was elected for Sydney as one of its members. He did not, however, remain long in politics, as his health failed and he was obliged to relinquish the seat. A few years later, however, he was again elected, this time for the Western goldfields. Again ill-health cut short his political career. He then remained out of politics until 1877, when he was called to the Legislative Council, and held the seat until his death. His only connection with office was in the short-lived Dibbs Ministry of 1885, when he served as Minister for Mines. The life of the Ministry was from October to December of that year. He served as member of one or two commissions for the holding of exhibitions. Several times he visited England, and on one of his voyages was wrecked in the ship Duncan Dunbar off the coast of Pernambuco. His exertions on that occasion were recognised and a presentation was made to him by the insurance companies.

Some three weeks ago Mr. Thornton showed signs of breaking up. He had fainting fits, and had to be carried into the house. From that time he was almost constantly under medical attendance, and sometimes showed signs of improvement, while at other times his case appeared more serious. Late on Friday night his case became more critical, and Dr. Bowman, who was attending him, advised that those nearest to him should be summoned. Through the night and early hours of Saturday morning he gradually sank, and at 6 o'clock lapsed into a state of unconsciousness, and died some few hours afterwards.

The 82 years of Mr. Thornton's career covered a period of great progress in New South Wales. When he was born George III. was yet King of England, but died a month afterwards. Then George IV. came to the throne, remained there 10 years, and made way for William IV. After six years William IV. died and Queen Victoria came to the throne. Then after the longest reign in English history she, too, passed away and Edward VII. succeeded to the throne. The strides made in constitutional freedom have been very great during those years. In New South Wales, too, the progress has been phenomenal. The colony was just emerging from the settlement stage when Mr. Thornton was born, and until he attained his young manhood it remained in leading strings, which were held tight by the authorities at home. He saw this State erected into a Crown colony, with restricted rights of self-government, and when he was approaching middle age he saw the Constitution given which made it a self-governing colony. In the last year of his life he saw it emerge from that into the leading State of the Australian Federation. He was familiar with the struggles which had to be engaged in before the colony had reached the status of a Crown colony; he knew of the efforts made by Wentworth and others to obtain the right to deal with the revenues raised by our own taxation; and when the Imperial Government sought some 60 years ago to impose a civil list of over £80,000 a year, provided for out of the local revenues, he took a great interest in the agitation against them. The fight that was made against the continuance of transportation to our shores was one with which he was familiar, and the other strong agitations which preceded the granting of, first the Constitution under which the people were governed as a Crown colony, and later those which resulted in the granting of responsible government, were familiar to him.

Those who take an interest in aquatic sports always found in him a strong sympathiser. He was the president of the Sydney Rowing Club from its establishment in 1870 or 1870, and also of the Rowing Association a year or two later. When men who are now elderly were in their cradles Mr. Thornton was a competitor in aquatic matches. It was at one time the fashion to hold the Sydney regattas in the harbour off Mrs. Macquarie's Chair, and old sketches are now in existence showing the assemblages of people on that point of vantage. Mr. Thornton was one of those who then took a leading part in rowing. At the annual meeting of the New South Wales Rowing Association it has been for many years past the custom to give the president an opportunity of recounting some of his old struggles—how he rowed in a boat which now would be designated a man killer in some of his races, how men whose names are now almost forgotten were then great favourites, and so on. His descriptions of Old Sydney were also picturesque, because he knew it when Brickfield Hill was a bush, when Woolloomooloo was unsettled, when the populous suburbs of to-day were recreation grounds for the inhabitants or places whither they went to shoot game. The keenness of his interest in these recitals was well known, and the younger generation of sporting men were always glad to hear of the veteran's exploits. Indeed he was looked upon with a respect bordering on reverence. The last of these stories has now been told, but their memory will remain.

Mr. Thornton saw the first steamer that ever traded in Australia—the Surprise—and in her he made the journey to Parramatta on the trial trip, which was accomplished in the then wonderful time of four hours. As instancing the magnitude of the journey to Parramatta in the days when Mr. Thornton was at the Customs-house, the only way for years was by a sailing craft called the Passage. It generally took a day to make the voyage. On one occasion when he was a passenger the trip occupied two days, the boat having to make such headway as she could against wind and tide. At nightfall of the first day the boat anchored at Five Dock, and Parramatta was reached at the close of the second day.

He was an enthusiastic yachtsman, and had the honour of winning the first classic yacht race ever held in Sydney Harbour. He knew every spot of the harbour, and in his yachting days had many experiences, especially in the matter of saving life. It is stated that he was instrumental during his time in rescuing about 40 people from drowning, and his great services in this direction were recognised by the Humane Society. He always treasured mementoes of his aquatic days.

Mr. Thornton a few years ago purchased an estate at Parramatta, where his boyhood was spent, and on it built a house, in which he died. Two of his children grew up, but his son, Mr. George Thornton, died some years ago, and the only surviving child is now Mrs. Bulmer, wife of Captain Bulmer, of Ryde. Lieutenant Bulmer, of the Artillery, is a grandson.

The funeral will take place to-day, and at the request of the deceased gentleman's relatives it is desired that no flowers be sent.

VICTORIA.

THE CARPENTERS' STRIKE.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The position in regard to the strike of carpenters remains unchanged so far as the attitude of the Builders and Contractors' Association is concerned. The association still refuses to yield to the demand for an immediate increase from 9s to 10s a day, but it is claimed on behalf of the men that the higher rate has already been conceded by several contractors. A member of the strike committee stated on Saturday that about half the men who had been on strike had resumed work at 10s a day. This statement, however, is not confirmed. At a meeting of the men held last night Mr. W. Jackson, who presided, said, without indicating the number of men who had resumed work, that the contractors had privately given way, but declined to admit the fact. The result was that the Government, Metropolitan Board of Works, and other public bodies still regarded 9s a day as the standard wage. After several addresses were delivered, a resolution was carried urging the Minister for Railways and the public bodies employing carpenters and joiners to at once concede the extra 1s a day.

Mr. Tudor, M.P., advised the men to stand firm, and expressed the opinion that if the Government refused the higher wage "it would be another nail in their coffin." A deputation was appointed to lay the resolution before the Minister for Railways and the Metropolitan Board of Works.

THE VICTORIAN RAILWAYS.

It is now definitely known that if the Government proposal to vest the management of the Victorian railways in a board of three Commissioners is carried out a seat on the board will be offered to Mr. David Kirkcaldie, one of the New South Wales Railway Commissioners.

A DARING ROBBER.

Thieves paid a visit last evening to the residence of Mr. L. Cocking, a well-known draper of Geelong, and carried off jewellery valued at £68. Miss Parker, a niece of Mr. Cocking, went to put a child to sleep, and a man sprang from under the bed and blew out the candle. He demanded money, and threatened to shoot her if she made any noise. The man then made his escape.

CONTRACT SYSTEM IN THE CRESWICK MINES.

A largely attended meeting of miners was held at Allendale to-day to receive the report of the Amalgamated Miners' Association executive council concerning the interview with the mineowners regarding the introduction of the contract system into the Creswick district. The tone of the meeting was one of discontent with the action of the executive council, and ultimately a resolution was carried that a ballot be taken of the miners employed on the Allendale mines as to whether they would accept the advice of the A.M.A. executive council and concede the contract.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION IN VICTORIA.

CENSURE MOTION TO BE MOVED.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Mr. Irvine, the leader of the Opposition in the State Parliament, has definitely decided to give notice of his want of confidence motion so soon as the Supply Bill, which has been passed by the Legislative Assembly, has been passed by the Legislative Council. Mr. Irvine has consulted Mr. Davis, the leader of the Council, who sees no difficulty in getting the bill through Mr Irvins has also acquainted the Premier (Mr Peacock) with his intentions, but Mr Peacock desires first to have the opportunity to consult the Solicitor-General with reference to the Supply Bill. When seen to-night Mr. Irvine said that he felt that his following was sufficiently strong to warrant him in challenging the Government. He had made no compact with any member or section in the House regarding his motion, nor did he intend doing so. The Opposition, in pledging him feupport, had given him an absolutely free hand. He relied upon the self-respect and public spirit of members to aid him in putting an end to a condition of things which was rapidly bringing party government into contempt. Never was it more necessary that a strong and responsible Government should exist and safeguard the interests of the public, and at no period in the history of Victoria had Parliamentary government been allowed to drift into such a helpless condition.

THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC IN CANADA.

A PRIVY COUNCIL APPEAL.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has decided that the provincial legislature of Manitoba is entitled to make enactments for the suppression of the liquor traffic. The committee allowed the appeal of the Attorney-General of the province, but no costs were awarded.

With the exception of Quebec, which is strongly anti-prohibition, a poll taken in 1898 showed small majorities in all the provinces in favour of prohibition. The vote in Quebec was so strong against prohibition that in the total vote it swept away the small majorities obtained in the other provinces.

The chief interest in the appeal lies in the question how far it affects the powers of the provincial Legislatures of Canada. It may thus throw some light on the powers of the State Legislatures of Australia.

OBITUARY.

COUNT VON HATZFELDT.

LONDON, Nov. 22.

The death is announced of Count Paul von Hatzfeldt, aged 70 years, German Ambassador to Great Britain.

It was recently announced that Count von Hatzfeldt was retiring, owing to ill health, and would be succeeded at the Court of St. James's by Count Wolff Metternich.

Count von Hatzfeldt was born in 1831, and he was specially trained for the diplomatic profession. He was one of Prince Bismarck's secretaries when that statesman was at Paris in 1862, and he continued in that capacity during the Franco-German war. In 1874 he was promoted to be Ambassador to Madrid, from whence he was transferred to Constantinople in a similar capacity. After being at the Turkish capital three years he returned to Berlin, where he became Foreign Minister. In 1885 he succeeded Count Munster as Minister to the Court of St. James's. His mother was the Countess Sophie von Hatzfeldt, the patroness and companion of Ferdinand Lassalle, the social democrat. Lassalle and Bismarck were great friends, and the philosophic connection between Lassalle, the Countess, and the Chancellor explains the friendship between the Chancellor and the Ambassador. The Count is one of the few men who have enjoyed the confidence and friendship of the Chancellor, by whom he was once described as "the best horse in my stable." Count and Countess Hatzfeldt were divorced about 1886, but were re-married on October 7, 1888, at Frauenstein, as their daughter was then engaged to be married to Prince Max du Hohenlohe-Oehringen, whose parents would not hear of their son marrying the daughter of divorced parents. Since this a younger daughter has married a prince of the same house, an elder brother of her sister's husband. Since their re-marriage the Countess has lived at Schloss Sommerburg, at Frauenstein, near Wiesbaden. She was a daughter of Mr. Charles Frederick Moulton, of New York.

THE WAR IN SOUTH AFRICA.

ENLISTMENT OF BOERS.

FIGHTING THE IRRECONCILABLES.

LONDON, Nov. 22.

Many Boers are volunteering and are eager to attack the irreconcilables and end the struggle.

Commandant Andries Cronje, brother of General Cronje, who surrendered at Paardeberg, is commanding a corps of ex-burghers and Commandant Cellliers another.

The bulk of Morley's scouts consists of Boers who were recently fighting against the British.

All these Boers are rendering valuable service and are trusted.

Nov. 23.

The ex-burgher volunteers are mostly landowners. They are paid 2s 6d a day and receive half the cattle they capture.

CONSPIRACY AT JOHANNESBURG.

BOER TREACHERY.

LONDON, Nov. 22.

The Cape Constabulary captured seven Boers at Leeuwkop. Two of the Boers, after surrendering, severely wounded two of the British. They were handed to the Provost Marshal for trial.

A FUTILE ATTACK.

LONDON, Nov. 22.

During the recent encounter at Heilbron (northern Orange River Colony) the Boers made desperate efforts to recover 15,000 cattle. Fighting lasted for four hours. The scouts eventually rushed the Boer position with their bayonets, wounding 15. Commandant de Wet and Mr. Steyn witnessed the fighting.

[A week ago Lord Kitchener reported that Kitchener's Fighting Scouts, forming the rear-guard of the column commanded by Colonel the Hon. J. H. G. Byng, encountered near Heilbron, in the Orange River Colony, 400 Boers, believed to be under Commandant de Wet. After two hours' fighting the Boers were decisively repelled, and lost eight men killed. The British losses were four men killed and nine wounded.]

MAJOR SIR H. G. ELLIOT KILLED.

LONDON, Nov. 22.

Half of Major Sir H. G. Elliot's patrol of East Griqualand volunteers attacked Bozindenhout's commando at Gatbergnek, killing six Boers and capturing a number of horses.

Major Sir H. G. Elliot was killed and three officers were severely wounded.

[Sir Henry George Elliot was indeed a veteran soldier. He was born in 1826, entered the Royal Marines in 1847, served throughout the Crimean War, retired with the rank of major in 1870, served in South Africa in 1877-78, and now at the age of 75 years he has been killed at the head of an irregular force of his own raising in East Griqualand, of part of which territory, Tembuland, he was chief magistrate.]

CAPTURES OF BOERS.

AUSTRALASIAN CASUALTIES.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

Private S. Aarons, of the cle a bowled. Gunn was in 1 hour 10 minutes for 20; he hit six 4's. Braund came next, but without any alteration he saw MacLaren splendidly caught by C. Gregory in front of the members' reserve off Hopkins. The English captain had completely saved the side. He was one of the two first men in, and was the ninth out; the total being 298. He was in 4 hours 10 minutes and did not give a chance. At the start of his innings he was clearly out of form, which was evident from the manner in which he treated everything on the off with respect, being content to advance per medium of leg glances and on strokes. Having felt his way and played himself into form, he then opened on the off, and made some pretty strokes, and at the close was scoring all round the wicket. His compilation of 145 included 22 4's. Braund and Barnes, the last two men, were now together. Barnes was almost thrown out by Kelly at 312. He snicked Hopkins over Howell's head, and Braund, backing up well, overtook his comrade at the end of the latter's second run. Barnes then had to travel hard to beat Kelly's throw at the wicket. The last two men, as in the New South Wales innings, gave a lot of trouble. Clarke, with whose bowling the Englishmen were greatly impressed, was after a long rest tried in place of Howell. Braund, however, hit Hopkins hard, once on to the fence, and the second time into the reserve in front of the northern pavilion. Braund thus had his revenge for having been hit for 5 by Hopkins. At 332, when Barnes was 11, he was stumped by Kelly off Hopkins. Braund, who was not out, 23, batted very attractively and as promisingly as anyone on the side. The innings closed at 5.30, having lasted four and three-quarter hours.

The total of the visitors was below that expected from a team with such a batting reputation under excellent weather and wicket conditions, and especially so in view of the fact that Noble's bowling was available only for a little while. It was anticipated that New South Wales would be fortunate if the Englishmen were dismissed for anything under 400. The latter, however, cannot be said to have yet struck form. As stated above, the visitors expressed a high opinion of Clarke's bowling. He certainly kept a good length, and mixed his deliveries a lot. He sent down 34 overs for 98 runs, four wickets, cleaning bowling Jones, Jessop, having MacLaren caught off him, and catching and bowling M'Gahey. Each of the five bowlers tried secured something in the way of compensation for the runs scored off him. Noble, unfortunately, could not send down more than eight overs owing to a strained muscle in his thigh, which it is hoped will not be serious. He, however, accounted for Hayward's wicket at a debit of 22. Howell and Hopkins each captured a couple of wickets for 62 and 80 respectively, while Trumper had 68 against him as the return for Barnes's wicket. The New South Wales fielding was very good indeed, every man on the side did exceptionally fine work, and there was not a sundry that could be charged to the wicketkeeper's account, the couple of extras being no balls.

With a minority of 44 the New South Wales second innings was started with Kelly and Howell to the bowling of Jessop at the northern end, and a run was sneaked off the first over. Barnes bowled from the southern end and four byes were registered. Howell hit Barnes over Quaife's head to the off for 4, the next he straight-hit for 2, and closed the over with a single. With the total 18 for no wicket play closed, Howell being 12, Kelly 0, and sundries 6. The scores are:—

ISLAND AFFAIRS.

NATIVE DISTURBANCES AT TANNA.

THE CONTROL OF THE NEW HEBRIDES.

REPORTED FRENCH APPOINTMENTS.

THE FEDERAL TARIFF AND ISLAND TRADE.

The steamer Mambare, under the house flag of Messrs. Burns, Philp, and Co., and the French steamer Pacifique, of the M.M. line, arrived yesterday from the islands. From Noumea the Pacifique brought word that certain appointments had been made by the French Government for the administration of affairs in the New Hebrides. These islands have in the past been under a British and French joint commission, the captain of the men-of-war of the respective nations on the station being empowered to hold courts, try cases, civil or criminal, inflict penalties, and enforce judgments. In the French penal colony of New Caledonia the report was received with undisguised satisfaction, and as much might be said of the feeling amongst the French settlers living in the New Hebrides.

As will be seen from the detailed account of the cruise just completed by the steamer Mambare, tribal fights on the island of Tanna had resulted in the loss of six lives. Speaking with one of the Mambare's passengers as to the effect of the Pacific Island Labourers Bill upon the kanaka traffic, a "Herald" reporter was informed that very little interest was taken in it. At Aneityum, for example, an island which a few years ago carried a population of 12,000 kanakas, there were to-day not as many hundreds. The missionaries had done all they could to stay the labour traffic, because of the depopulation of the islands of the group; so that any law which would put an end to the labour-recruiting vessels' visits would be welcomed by them.

THE MAMBARE'S REPORT.

Of the Mambare's trip and the island affairs generally the following was supplied by the purser of the steamer:—

At Tanna an epidemic of whooping cough was raging which affected both blacks and whites alike, and in some cases developed into pneumonia. At this island also, where the natives are ever turbulent, a tribal fight had been raging, and had only ceased the day before the Mambare's arrival, resulting in six natives being killed, the boat's crew that brought the trader off being still in their war paint of three variegated colours, cartridge belts circling their naked waists.

At Vila the steamer transhipped a supply of coal to H.M.S. Wallaroo, to enable her to proceed to Sydney on completion of her commission in the group, as during the hurricane season the warships rendezous at their headquarters.

Considerable excitement was aroused at Vila, and at other maize-growing centres, on it becoming known that the Commonwealth tariff imposed a duty of 3s 4d a bag on maize, and the ruin of the group was prophesied on all hands if this New Hebrides produce, one of its principal mainstays, was to be saddled with such a tariff; 9d a bunch on bananas was also severely commented on, and the planters were loud in their denunciation of such ruinous measures.

At Vila the Mambare was also informed that the French Government since her last visit had appointed Dr. Farant, resident medical officer at that port, as Deputy High Commissioner for his nation's interests in the archipelago. Two minor officials had also been appointed, one at Epi and the other at Port Sandwich.

The last of the season's whale oil from Norfolk Island came by the steamer, and the whalers reported a good catch for this year.

THE BOTANY SENSATION.

THE HORSE FOUND.

A large body of plain-clothes police and detectives have been scouring the suburbs in search of the man who bailed up two of Messrs. Enoch Taylor and Co.'s employees at Botany on Friday, but up to the present the man has eluded capture. The police, however, have discovered several clues which, it is thought, will lead to the capture of the assailant.

At a late hour on Friday afternoon a pony which answers to the description of the animal ridden by the man was discovered at St. Peters. It is stated that a man named Dobbin saw a man who answers the description of the highwayman riding up Silver-street, St. Peters, on the pony. The animal was covered with foam and appeared as if it had been ridden at a furious pace. On reaching the street the man rode to where a sulky, in which two men were seated, was standing. He then dismounted and removed the saddle and bridle from the horse and placed them in the sulky. He afterwards got into the sulky himself and left the horse standing in the road. Some time afterwards Mr. Kelly, a resident of St. Peters, found the horse wandering about the street and informed the local police, who took it to the Newtown Police Station. The factory was communicated with on Saturday morning, and two men identified the animal as the one ridden by the highwayman.

It was reported on Saturday morning that several mounted police traced the fugitive as far as Rockdale on the previous night.

At a late hour last night there were no fresh developments in the case.

On Saturday the police made an arrest on suspicion, but subsequently the man was released.

TASMANIA.

ACTION FOR TRESPASS AGAINST THE STATE GOVERNMENT.

LAUNCESTON, Sunday.

In the second action brought by the Van Diemun's Land Company against the Table Cape Marine Board, counsel for plaintiff, in answer to the Judge, yesterday said that plaintiffs claimed that the block surrendered to the Crown was either bounded on the east by Emu Bay, in which case it did not include the buildings named in the deed, or else the stores were included and the water frontage was lost. Mr. Justice Clark said he had looked through the deed, and had concluded that it could be read in one way only, and that it did not matter how many stores were left out the water frontage must be included. He would take the responsibility of so directing the jury. It would be nothing short of waste of time to proceed. At counsel's request, his Honor took a note of the lines along which the evidence would have gone had the case been fully heard.

As directed, the jury returned a verdict for the defendant Marine Board.

[This case arose out of the surrender by the company in 1872 of a block of land to the Crown for the purpose of building a wharf. The company claimed that the surrendered block extended only to a line 30ft. short of high water, and that the soil between that line and the water still belonged to them, and that the building of the wharf out over that land into the water constituted the trespass complained of.]

NEW ZEALAND.

THE SAN FRANCISCO TRADE.

LETTER FROM MR. SPRECKELS.

WELLINGTON, Sunday.

Mr. Spreckels, writing to New Zealand, says:—The Union Steamship Company interests have succeeded in working up a very strong sentiment against my company, and, as far as my company itself is concerned, unjustly. But they have mixed us up with the United States laws in such a way that a large portion of your public hold us responsible for shutting out steamers carrying the English flag between Honolulu and the United States. Now the point which you will see the significance of in connection with this matter is as follows:—When the Union S.S. Company, in 1898, realised that there was danger of the Hawaiian Islands being under the American flag they were very anxious to have an American register granted to the Moana so that they could continue in the trade. However, it was impossible for the Moana, under our laws, to receive an American register. They then suggested they should build a boat in the United States which they could run with our new ones. I explained that our laws prohibited the registering of ships owned by non-citizens, and that, although the vessel might be registered in our name, we would not be able to take the oath of ownership, which would entitle her to our flag and the benefit of the subsidies.

INTER-STATE CRICKET.

VICTORIA v. SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

HEAVY SCORING.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The match between South Australia and Victoria was resumed on Saturday shortly after noon in perfect weather, the bright sun being tempered by a southerly breeze. Jarvis and Leak resumed to the bowling of Collins and M'Leod. With seven runs added there was a fervent appeal against Jarvis, who had added six, for a catch on the leg side of the wicket off Collins, but it was disallowed, and soon after by hitting Collins to square leg for 2 he brought his score to 30, and the total to 300, the result of five hours batting. Jarvis ran into the forties by off-driving a full toss from Collins for 4, all run, and the next ball he hit to the fence at leg and made his score equal to Leak, 46. This brought Saunders on, and in his first over Collins missed a fast snick on the slips from Jarvis. Two beautiful drives to the fence by Jarvis in M'Leod's next over brought his total to 56, the result of 55 minutes' batting. In M'Leod's next over the West Torrens man snicked him for four and then off-drove him beautifully for five. This treatment brought Worrall on at 339, and Jarvis hit him high to the on, the ball hitting the fence on the full close to Graham, who could not get to it. Jarvis brought 350 up at 1 o'clock by hitting Saunders to the leg boundary. With eight runs added Armstrong relieved Saunders, and in his first over he caught and bowled Jarvis, who had made 80 in 85 minutes. He had hit nine fours and a five, and gave a fine exhibition of batting with only one chance. 5-80-358. Leak, who was 55, was joined by Matthews. The score at the luncheon adjournment was 374. Leak 60 and Mathews 3. On resuming, with only 1 run added, Mathews was caught at third man off M'Leod, who had gone back to his old end. Kirkwood opened with a fine straight drive to the fence off Laver, and ran into double figures with a beautiful late cut off M'Leod for 4. Armstrong missed him in the long field off M'Leod, but immediately afterwards the fieldsman made some amends. In the next over he held a good catch in the slips off Laver. 7-11-386. M'Kenzie began with a square cut for 4 off Laver. M'Leod suffered again when Laver at point missed Leak off him. Leak, who had batted for nearly two hours for only 17 runs, brought 400 up by snicking Laver for 4, which occupied six hours 35 minutes from the start. Mackenzie hit across a straight one at 403 and was bowled by M'Leod. Jones, who received a great reception, drove the Melbourne man high for 4, but in trying to repeat the stroke he was well caught by M'Michael straight behind the bowler. Nine for 407. Travers had only made 2 when Leak, who had batted for four hours, was cleverly stumped by Fry off Laver. Leak's innings on Saturday was slow. He hit four 4's, only one of which was got on Saturday. The whole innings lasted just short of seven hours.

Worrall took M'Michael in with him and each batsman scored a single off Jones's first over. Travers bowled at the other end. Worrall missed hit one from Travers and it fell far out from mid-off, Jones trying hard for the chance, and Mathews dropped a hot one in the slips from M'Michael off Jones, but the last ball of the over he hit freely to leg. M'Michael did most of the scoring, and with the total at 25 Worrall ruis-hit one from Travers, and was caught at third man by Kirkwood. 1-7-25. Hill might have caught Graham when he was five off Travers at extra mid-off, but there was no doubt about M'Michael's next two strokes, which were beautifully executed. Graham had a narrow escape from being run out when he was seven, Hill returning to the wicket-keeper instead of the bowler. Kirkwood relieved Jones at 48. The scoring was not fast, but the total gradually increased, M'Michael doing most of the run-getting. There were occasional fourers by M'Michael to leg off Kirkwood, and he Graham to leg off Jones. By a beautiful late cut off Kirkwood, M'Michael reached his 50 in 70 minutes, but Mathews, who replaced Kirkwood at 88, broke the partnership. M'Michael drawing a ball into his wicket. 2-53-91. M'Michael had played a good solid innings. Armstrong joined Graham, and was in some time before he scored, but a pretty cut off Matthews to the fence brought 100 up. Graham at 103 touched one of Jones', and it cannoned off M'Kenzie's gloves to Travers, who held the chance. 3-37-103. Graham had played much more quietly than usual. Armstrong greeted M'Alister by cutting Mathews for 4 and pulling him for 3. After bowling 11 overs for 17 runs, Jones was relieved by Bailey at 122, and Armstrong hit his first to leg for 4. But it was slow, uninteresting cricket, the game being without life, and when 6 o'clock came the players and spectators were glad.

The attendance at the South Australia v. Victoria cricket match yesterday was under 5000.

NEWCASTLE.

HUNTER FLOODS' MITIGATION SCHEME.

VISIT OF THE PUBLIC WORKS COMMITTEE.

NEWCASTLE, Sunday.

The Parliamentary Standing Committee on Public Works visited Newcastle yesterday for the purpose of taking evidence in regard to the proposal to give effect to one of the schemes for the prevention or mitigation of floods in the Hunter River district. The inquiry was opened at the city courthouse, and the committee sat for about three hours.

Mr. W. B. Sharp, president of the Newcastle Chamber of Commerce, was the first witness examined. He said that it was highly desirable that steps should be taken to prevent floods in the Hunter, but any scheme to be effective must first of all provide for the removal of the bar at the entrance to the port of Newcastle. If the depth of water at the entrance was increased by 10ft., a scour would be created sufficient to carry all the silt out to sea, and the heavy expenditure incurred in the continuous dredging of the harbour would be saved. The removal of the bar would provide a much greater getaway for the flood-waters, and the upper reaches of the Hunter River would be relieved. He was strongly of opinion that whatever scheme was adopted it would be necessary to start by deepening the entrance to Newcastle harbour. Witness estimated the cost of removing the bar at about £200,000. The work, however, would not only relieve the farmers and other settlers of the Hunter, but would also add considerably to the commercial importance of the port and city of Newcastle, as vessels of large capacity would be enabled to safely enter the harbour. He was confident that the deepening of the entrance in conjunction with the proposed cuttings at Maitland and Largs would give the desired relief. The proposed cuttings might mitigate the floods to a certain extent, but no permanent relief would be afforded unless the Newcastle bar was removed. The suggested cutting from Raymond Terrace to Port Stephens to take away the flood-waters would prove an advantage, provided that the Hunter River was not interfered with and that the cutting was not made a permanent channel.

Mr. W. J. Ellis (Mayor of Newcastle) said that in carrying out any scheme for the mitigation of the floods in the Hunter it was of the utmost importance that the interests of the port of Newcastle should be thoroughly safeguarded. For instance, if the proposed work had the effect of increasing the strength of the currents in the Newcastle Harbour a great disadvantage would be experienced by shipping. The greatest caution would be necessary to prevent the increase of silt on the bar, which would lead to extensive and continuous dredging operations. The staple industry of Newcastle depended upon a good harbour, and it was generally felt that some steps should be taken to deepen the entrance to such an extent as to permit of the largest vessels afloat visiting the port. The people of Newcastle were in sympathy with those of the Hunter Valley, and desired that some scheme should be carved out to relieve the farmers and others from the danger of disastrous floods. He was not an engineer, and therefore could not express an opinion as to the merits or demerits of the different schemes.

Evidence concerning the various schemes for the mitigation of floods in the Hunter was also given by Mr. R. A. Wallace, of the firm of R. R. Wallace and Co., Captain Cummins (of the Newcastle pilot service), and Mr. W. J. Millner (resident engineer for public works). The inquiry will be resumed by the committee at Maitland to-morrow.

PORT HUNTER SAILING CLUB.

Under the auspices of the Port Hunter Sailing Club a handicap race for 10-footers was sailed over the usual course yesterday afternoon, and resulted in an easy win for the scratch boat Olga. A light southerly breeze prevailed, and the tide was flood. The steamer Aggie, which followed the race, was fairly well patronised, and the launch Maid was secured for the use of the umpire and officials. The racing officials were:—Starter, Mr. Langford; umpire, Mr. F. J. Herbert; timekeeper, Mr. A. C. Hollinshead; and the handicapper, Mr. G. R. Cubbertson. Appended are the details of the race:—

Other starters: Mr. W. York's Elma, 1 minute (sailed by the owner); and Mr. E. Devereaux's Peasie, 3½ minutes (sailed by G. Moncrieff). The Olga overhauled the limit boats during the first time round and established an indisputable lead. The Australia succeeded in overtaking the limit boats during the second time round. The Olga won with seven minutes to spare.

COLONEL KEKEWICH'S COLUMN.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE.

ATTACKED BY BOERS.

FIERCE FIGHTING.

BRITISH COLONEL WOUNDED.

COMMANDANT BOSHOF KILLED.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

MOEDWIL (TRANSVAAL), Oct. 2.

On the evening of September 29 we bivouacked at a place called Hopperfontein, and before daylight the sound of big guns reached our ears. Surely those continuous reports meant either that one of our other columns had discovered a Boer hager, or that at last the Boers were putting into execution their threat of attack upon a British camp. There was no means of learning what it all meant until, with the rising of the sun, Colonel Williams set our heliographing apparatus at work. Then a responsive flash 10 or 12 miles away showed that our signal had been noticed, and soon afterwards the report ran through the column that the Boers had attacked Kekewich's camp, inflicting very serious losses, and wounding the colonel himself in three places. The news naturally occasioned considerable excitement, and our men were all impatient for the order that would set them on their way to the scene of the fight. But several hours passed before that order was given, and when at last we moved off we trekked simply at the ordinary rate. "Orders are orders," of course, and we could only conclude that the information obtained by headquarters showed that no useful end could be accomplished by hurrying. As we afterwards ascertained, the Boers were many miles away from the scene of their morning's work by the time that we received the order to saddle up, and even had we started out immediately after the first sound of artillery fire was heard it is doubtful whether we should have been able to arrive in time to be of any assistance to Kekewich. In a straight line, probably not more than 10 miles separated the two camps, but the intervening country was exceedingly hilly and rocky, and so circuitous was the track that the actual distance to be traversed certainly exceeded 20 miles. A two hours' halt was made at Kostafontein, and as hour or so after midnight we reached Retsgai's kraal, a large Kaffir settlement, where we bivouacked until morning. A couple of hours' march brought us to Moedwil.

Through conversations with several officers and men fortunate enough to come scathless through the terrible ordeal of two mornings ago I have been able to form a tolerably fair idea of what actually occurred. First of all it must be said that the position of Kekewich's camp was not by any means a good one, though probably, owing to the nature of the surrounding country, as safe a place as could have been chosen within a radius of several miles. Colonel Kekewich's career is sufficient to admit of no doubt that—knowing as he did that the Boers were in force in the vicinity—he selected the best spot for his camp that circumstances would allow. Still it was a site that offered many advantages to a determined attack. The camp was pitched on a clear spot that sloped gently upwards from a series of rocky terraces running along the bank of the Selons River, the first row of tents being 300 yards or 400 yards from these rocks. Looking from the front of the camp across the river one sees to the left two or three ruined houses, and a couple of thousand yards beyond a very high hill. (On this hill, it seems, was stationed General Delarey with his reserve force, which was being held in readiness to pursue the Britishers the moment they commenced to retreat towards Maghato Pass.) In front and to the right are more hills, and at the base of one of these runs a wide belt of thick trees, distant certainly not more than 1000 yards from the camp. There is thick-wooded country on the right, left, and rear of this site.

As usual, outposts fairly strong encircled the camp. At two of the ruined buildings across the river there were pickets composed of the 1st Derbys (Sherwood Foresters), who also provided posts on the left side of the camp as well as a portion of the front, where they were stationed on the rocks on the inner bank of the river, connecting on the right with the Devon and Somerset Yeomanry, who in turn had on their right the Scottish Horse, the latter's post extending from the extreme right front round to the Derbys on the left rear. The force in camp totalled at the outside 750—80 Yeomanry, 300 Derbys, and 300 or 400 Scottish Horse—with two 15-pounders of the 28th Battery, a Maxim, and a pom-pom. Only the previous day Colonel Kekewich had sent in his ox convoy to Rustenberg through Maghato Pass, escorted by one 15-pounder, a company of the Derbys and a squadron of Scottish Horse, the convoy including a number of empty waggons going for supplies, and also many captured Boer waggons and families and a good few prisoners.

For some days previously the pickets had stood to arms at 4 a.m., but as matters seemed quiet it was ordered that on this particular morning they should stand to arms at 4.30. It was just at this hour that the attack was made. A patrol of the Scottish Horse was just going out of camp when it was fired on, and simultaneously the pickets were attacked. The attack was led by Kemp in person, who with 500 picked men had crept up under cover of the belt of trees on the right front of the camp and succeeded in getting into the bed of the river, which, though in places 6ft. or 7ft. deep, was at many other points almost dry. The first picket to suffer was that at the house near the drift, not a man escaped. Under cover of the lower terraces of rocks the Boers clambered up from the river bed, and though the pickets heroically resisted they were completely overpowered. One post comprised a sergeant and 12 men of the Derbies. One man remained unwounded, eight were killed instantly, and it is doubtful whether the others will recover. At another post six were killed outright, and indeed everyone of the outposts suffered frightfully. Some of the bodies when found were outrageously mutilated, and bore evidence of the men's own bayonets having been used in the work of mutilation. Even now these rocks present a ghastly sight.

When the firing began the camp immediately turned out, but scores of men were shot down while rushing to take up positions at various points. As I have said, the camp was situated in an open space, and there was absolutely no cover for the men until they got down near the river bank. Consequently exposed as they were to the full fire of the Boers, who had driven in or killed the pickets, as well as the fire of those who had taken up their position among the thick trees, they fell rapidly. The guns opened fire immediately, but they were unsheltered, and their flash told the enemy their position. A withering fire was concentrated on them, and one of the 15-pounders was rendered useless, because no human being could live in that deadly hail, and at last the attempt to work it was abandoned. The second gun, however, continued in action throughout, for, though at intervals its fire was silenced through the gunners being shot down, others were forthcoming, and altogether this gun delivered 80 shells. Two detachments of the gunners were shot down in quick succession, and at the end the gun was being worked by farriers and men of other duties How nobly the brave artillerymen upheld their traditions is shown by the fact that their casualties alone numbered 16. The pom-pom unfortunately was soon put out of action through its spring breaking, but the Maxim, despite the fact that around it, too, gunner after gunner fell, continued to do good work until it jammed and could spit forth its deadly stream of lead no longer.

Under heavy fire the Derbies, Scottish Horse, and Yeomanry succeeded in forming small sangars, which afforded them shelter from the pitiless torrent of bullets that fell on them like, as one officer expressed it, "a living hell." Grandly did our troops behave—the Scottish horse like old campaigners, the Derbies—well, just as the Derbies have always behaved, whether at Noontgedacht, Modderfontein, or Vlakfontein. (Strange to say, none of these places of fierce struggle is very far from Moedwil.) All accounts seem to agree that had the Boers pushed their advantage at the beginning they would have taken the camp, but the splendid defence was so unexpected that they wavered, and the opportunity having been let slip was not again to be seized. For two hours and a half the fight raged fiercely, Delarey then withdrawing his forces, doubtless deeply disappointed despite the knowledge that they had inflicted tremendous damage to their opponents.

All around lay dead and dying—men and animals—and the sight is described by old soldiers as one of the most gruesome they have ever seen. I can well imagine this, for while the casualties among the troops, so far as is known, totalled at least 190, I myself saw this afternoon, spread out on the hillside to which they had been dragged in rear of the camp, the carcases of fully 350 horses, mules, and oxen. Many of the horses stampeded when the firing began and galloped off in the direction of Maghato Pass, whence a number were brought back to-day.

Both yesterday and to-day I was present at the burial of several brave fellows, and was told that the deaths already numbered 51. Among the officers there were no fewer than 28 casualties, of which 16 were in connection with the Scottish Horse. Indisputable proof this that the leaders were where they should be. Colonel Kekewich himself—brave, amiable, and beloved by all—was wounded in three places, but gallantly insisted upon directing operations until his strength became exhausted, and he had no option but to hand over control to Colonel Wyllie, of the Derbies, the next senior officer. Surgical assistance was forthcoming from Rustenberg in a remarkably short space of time, and during the last couple of days as many of the wounded as could be removed have been taken into the town named. Our own Army Medical Corps, under Captain Samuelson, has been able to render valuable assistance in attending to the wounded.

Now, what were the casualties among the Boers? Six were buried by our troops, and eight wounded were found among the rocks, but this number cannot by any means represent the losses of the enemy, for almost every survivor to whom I have spoken has agreed that scores of wounded Boers were carried off by their comrades, and some of the nets used for that purpose were picked up by our own men. Five Boer ambulance carts were in the vicinity of the camp from 2 o'clock to 6 o'clock in the afternoon, and many bodies were seen placed on them. This fact, taken in conjunction with the Boer doctors' request sent in during the afternoon that they might be supplied with 80 field-bandages, would seem to justify the belief that the enemy also suffered severely, though, of course, not to anything like the same extent that the British did.

The dead Boers included Commandant Boshof, one of the most daring scouts they have ever had. He had actually crept into the camp before the attack began, and was shot dead by a farrier-sergeant of the Derbies whilst engaged in collecting the rifles and bandoliers of the sleeping soldiers. In one of his pockets was found a plan of the camp, a fact which lends colour to the assertion of one of the Boer wounded that

Business on the Stock Exchange, so far as ordinary investment stocks are concerned, was practically suspended. Tooth's Brewery were offered at 28s. Queensland National Bank deposits are down 6d, Fresh Food and Ice 6d, others about be same. Closing quotations were as follows:—

The New Zealand loan, being at a premium of ½, will presumably be fully subscribed.

Our local life assurance offices are concerned in the general policy of British offices with regard to war risks. It appears that as one result of the discussion, according to the "Financial Times," almost every company now offers in time of peace to accept warriors at a small extra of £5 5s per 1000, payable during the whole period of active service, which extra covers any risk which may subsequently arise. The high extra charges imposed on officers for service in the war in South Africa have caused such complaints as to make it expedient to provide the new arrangement. The industrial life offices do not greatly concern themselves about war risk. Their membership is so large and so widespread and the normal premium is so high that the extra mortality of the militant section can be taken as all in the day's work, carrying with it an effective advertisement amongst the neighbours of the widows to whom money is paid.

The comments following the Stock and Share table in Friday's article which were misplaced relate to the Bank of New South Wales. The Hon. C. K. Mackellar, M.L.C., has been re-elected president.

There is yet no appreciable improvement in the Import markets which can only be expected to get out of their present stagnant condition when the stocks of goods bought before the Federal tariff was imposed become exhausted. The recovery no doubt will be gradual; as one line of merchandise and another runs short, the consumptive demands must be met. But with four to six months purchases in advance it is early to expect recovery to anything like normal conditions. In the export markets on the other hand a brisk business is being done. British and foreign wool buyers are operating even more freely than at the beginning of the season, and the quantity of wool sold this week was equal to fully 87 per cent. of the amount catalogued. The season continues to be a favourable one over the greater part of the State for those engaged on the land, intermittent rains having kept the vegetation green and succulent and favoured the growth of the wheat crop. The money market remains without material change, accommodation being easy. Bank deposit rates are as follow:—For deposits: For 1 month, 3 per cent.; six months, 1½ per cent. Discount rates are: For three months' bills, 5 to 5½ per cent.; four months' bills, 5½ to 6½ per cent. Overdrafts, 6 to 7 per cent. The rates of exchange on London are as follow:—

From the prospectus of the Tasmanian 3 per cent. loan of £450,000, issued at the price of 92 in London on October 11, the list of which was closed on October 16, it appears that the instalments were made payable in October, November, and December, three months' interest being paid on January 1. Subscribers received 8s 10d per cent. accrued interest, the net price of the loan being reduced to £91 11s 2d, which compares with the earlier issues of the year as follows:—

The requirements of Tasmania being smaller than those of the other States, the money has been obtained on rather more favourable terms. If redeemed at the option of the Government in 1920, the stock will cost 3½ per cent., and if in 1940, the due date, £3 8s per cent.

BREADSTUFFS.

The commercial representative of Victoria in London, Mr. J. M. Sinclair, has made a special report to his Government on the Australian flour trade in England. Mr. Sinclair advises the shipment of flour and other Victorian products to various ports other than London, a practice which has been adopted by other exporting countries, who have found that it leaves a larger margin of profit. In the course of his travels Mr. Sinclair interviewed a large packing firm in Glasgow. The manager informed him that his firm had used very little Australian flour, only a small proportion of it, about one-fifteenth, being utilised for mixing with American and home-produced flour. This gentleman regarded Australian flour as being weak and soft in comparison to that from the United States and Canada, though it was useful for mixing. Mr. Sinclair stated that, at the date of writing, the price of Victorian flour in London was 18s "ex ship," as against 21s for United States flour; and this, he regards, as a disproportion not altogether warranted by the actual relative values of the flour.

IMPORT MARKET.

Trade continued in the even tenor of its monotonous way during the week just closed. It has not yet nearly recovered from the shock of altered fiscal conditions. Under ordinary circumstances November and December are regarded as amongst the busiest months of the year. This time, however, they are not likely to prove up to their reputations, not that consumptive requirements are expected to be much if at all below normal, but on account of stocks having been increased so inordinately in anticipation of the tariff earlier in the year. Considering the over-weighted state of stocks prices have kept up wonderfully well. Two causes have, no doubt, been responsible. First of all, stocks cannot be replaced except at high costs in most cases; and secondly, the pre-tariff speculation was so prolonged, and charges in consequence became so heavy, that holders must get fairly full rates or lose money on their operations. To this probably as much as to anything else may be attributed the maintenance of rates. Under other circumstances there would probably have been greater eagerness to sell, even at lower prices. From all supplying markets news has been received that Australian orders have been much fewer than usual, and the local indent houses advise having done little or nothing during the past few months. This must mean that supplies afloat are much below normal, and this in time will rectify the present abnormal weight of stocks. The promise of a good harvest ensures a continuation of satisfactory consumptive demand for the next few months.

A private cablegram has been received from the Continent advising that detonators have advanced all round 50 per cent. Hutherio prices have been very low, under factory cost.

AMUSEMENTS.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

There was an immense attendance at Her Majesty's Theatre on Saturday, so that it is rather surprising that the run of "The Sign of the Cross" should not be extended beyond next Friday. This course has been adopted, however, in order that Mr. Wilson Barrett may reappear in some of his more popular impersonations, and accordingly "The Silver King" is announced for next Saturday. There will be a final matinee of "The Sign of the Cross" on Wednesday.

The Williamson Opera Company will open a short season at the Theatre Royal next Saturday with "Florodora." The plan will be available at Elvy's to-morrow.

THEATRE ROYAL.

The last five nights of "East Lynne" are notified at the Theatre Royal, as Mr. Charles Holloway then closes his dramatic season pending the preparation of his Christmas piece for the Criterion Theatre, of which he has a long lease. "East Lynne" is elaborately staged and well acted, and should run strongly during these few last nights. There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

LYCEUM THEATRE.

"The Ladder of Life" drew a fine house at the Lyceum Theatre on Saturday, when the military music and the picturesque tableau depicting the assault of the Gordon Highlanders upon Dargai Heights excited much enthusiasm. On Saturday Mr. William Anderson will produce "Honour thy Father," for the first time in Australia.

CRITERION—"FRA DIAVOLO."

The Josephine Stanton Opera Company entered upon the two last weeks of their season at the Criterion by reviving "Fra Diavolo" on Saturday. The work has many graceful and vivacious melodies, and as only three performances of the opera were given when it was produced earlier in the present month the repetition drew a crowded house on Saturday. In the main the cast was the same as before, for although Mr. Clarence Harvey made his first appearance as Beppo, and showed considerable invention and humour in it, yet a comic bandit more or less is of little consequence in a work which depends for popularity upon the charms of its music. In this connection Miss Josephine Stanton again made a success as Zerlina, playing the part brightly and singing especially well the opening air "On Yonder Rock Reclining," and the graceful and joyous "Haste To-morrow." Mr. Henry Hallam sang the tender serenade in his best manner, and was encored with enthusiasm. Next Saturday Mr. Hallam will produce the new opera "Dorcas" for the first time.

TIVOLI THEATRE.

The chief feature of Saturday's programme at the Tivoli Theatre was the reappearance of Mr. Albert Athas and Miss Lizzie Collins, who were accorded a hearty reception. Mr. Will Whitburn, who during his long engagement at the Tivoli has become a favourite, appeared for the last time at the evening performance. The other artists who took part in the programme were Messrs. J. Bain, A. Coleman, Carleton, Sutton, Charles O'Brien, and Mdlle. Lucretia. Their efforts were thoroughly appreciated.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

Crowded audiences witnessed both the matinee and the evening performances at the Empire Theatre on Saturday. The programme was one which was evidently much appreciated, as every number was loudly applauded, whilst there were many recalls. It included several first appearances, the most notable being Carmo, a clever contortionist and juggler; Fred. Ravenhall, a comedian of a peculiarly droll type; and Ossus, who is a fine gymnast. Miss Ida Roslyn, Mr. Albert Lucas, and Miss Jeannie also made their reappearances.

MISS NELLIE COOKE'S CONCERT.

Miss Nellie Cooke's complimentary concert, which took place at the Town Hall on Saturday, had a most splendidly organised, and a great audience assembled to hear her sing. In addition to Vice-regal patronage, and the presence of some of the English cricketers, two influential committees, with Miss Eva Mylott (hon. secretary ladies' committee) and Messrs. J. M. Callaghan (hon. treasurer), R. B. Brewer and George Grimm (joint hon. secretaries), as principal office-bearers, assisted in ensuring the financial success of the send-off. Miss Nellie Cooke sang "Ah, fors e tui," with "Robin Adair" as encore; "Farewell, dear Friends" from "La Fylle del Regiments," and Ciardi's "The Nightingale." The lastnamed is in reality a duet for voice and flute, and in this the soprano, who sang admirably, was assisted by Mr. John Lemmone, who played the florid instrumental part with exquisite feeling and purity of tone. Ciardi makes a new departure in his invention of another "Bird Song" to the long list of those compositions already in existence, inasmuch as he allows the bird to do most of the singing. There is much appropriateness in this idea, for what singer would dare do more than second the rich outpouring which Milton himself described as "most musical, most melancholy?" The composition quite gives the idea of the listener at first spell-bound by the enchanting strain, and then moved to a modest emulation which does not seek to shake the empire of the woodland songster. Certainly, our audiences must feel grateful to Miss Cooke and Mr. Lemmone for the introduction of Ciardi's piece, which was first brought forward by the young soprano at her debut on September 27, 1899. Since then, Miss Cooke, who probably endeavoured to do too much at the outset, has had some trouble with her fine voice, which still possesses brilliancy as well as a sympathetic timbre. For this reason, no very confident prediction can be made of her future beyond saying that the organ appears to be recovering tone. The young singer proposes to study at Milan, and the long sea voyage and complete rest and change of air will doubtless assist her towards the success which her amiable disposition and capacity for hard work deserve. Her reception on Saturday was of the most cordial nature, and the congratulatory speech made by Mr. J. M. Purves, on behalf of the Mayor, who was unavoidably absent, evoked fresh enthusiasm.

Nearly everything on the long programme was encored. The items were contributed by artists who have such numerous calls upon their talents that analyses of their style is no longer necessary. One of the few numbers that earned the distinction of not being encored was a "Larghetto" by Mozart. It furnished a stately melody of the most touching grace, and being rendered with a tender restraint of style by Herr Gerard Vollmar proved one of the most enjoyable events of the evening. The Dutch 'cellist has, in fact, never played better. The Feldwick Vocal Quartette delighted everybody with the musical quality of their expressive ensemble, and were encored both for "The Lovers" (Franz) and "Sleep, Gentle Lady" (Bishop). Mr. Rivers Allpress played "Souvenir" and "Unrest" in his best manner, both pieces being from the pen of Mr. Ernest Truman, who himself rendered an original composition ("Allegretto in A") on the grand organ. Miss Eva Mylott (encored), Mrs. F. J. Truscott (encored), Messrs. W. A. Robyns (encored), Arnold B. Mote, John Lemmone (encored), Laurance Phillip (who beautifully expressed the sentiment of Sinding's "Rustle of Spring"), Percy Bates, and J. Edward Sykes also assisted.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

Very few sales were recorded in mining ventures on the Stock Exchange on Saturday, and with the exception of a further weakening in Western Australian gold stocks there were no changes of importance. Chillagoe Railway and Mines were slightly easier with business at 4s 1d, and Mount Garnet Freehold changed hands at 33s. Business in coal companies was represented by a sale of Wallsend at £31 10s. Ivanhoe Gold Corporation receded 2s 6d with business at £8 5s; Associated Gold Mines sold at 47s, and Hannan's Oroya at 50s. The only transaction in local gold was a sale of Mount Drysdale at 14s, and Associated Gold Dredging contributing at 4s.

Business during the week was small in volume with very little fluctuation in values. In copper stocks Chillagoe Railway and Mines had a considerable share of attention with sales from 4s 6d to 3s 2d and back to 4s 11d, again dropping to 4s 1d. Western Australian companies were easier towards the close of the week with very little disposition on the part of holders to operate at prices offered. Transactions were as follows:—Western Australian: Associated Gold Mines, 47s; ditto Northern Blocks, 56s, 55s; Cosmopolitan, 29s, 29s 3d; Crœsus Proprietary, 9d; Great Boulder Perseverance, £9 10s 6d; Hannan's Oroya, 52s 6d, 51s 6d, 51s, 50s; Ivanhoe Gold Corporation, £8 7s 6d, £8 5s; Queen Margaret, 10s 1½d; Queen Margaret Central, 2s. Local silver companies gave the following range of sales:—Broken Hill Proprietary, 35s 6d, 35s 3d; Block 10, 33s 6d; Sulphide Corporation, 9s, 9s 3d, 9s 1½d, 9s 6d, 9s 6d; ditto, preference, 18s.

Sales in the copper division were:—Chillagoe Railway and Mines, 4s 6d, 4s 6d, 4s 5d, 4s 6d, 4s 2d, 3s 10d, 3s 2d, 3s 2d, 3s 9d, 3s 8d, 3s 6d, 3s 9d, 4s 1d, 4s 1d, 4s 3d, 4s 4d, 4s 4½d, 4s 4d, 4s 4½d, 4s 5d, 4s 9d, 4s 11d, 4s 11d, 4s 9d, 4s 8d, 4s 4½d, 4s 7d, 4s 6d, 4s 7d, 4s 6d, 4s 6d, 4
